

A network of three local European communities dedicated to textile artisanship and education

(Digitally crafting practices for new communities online)

Explore and try
www.eudigitac.eu

It's an international platform
where you can share your knowledge:

contributing is easy an free!

Sweden, Italy and Estonia working together to help artisans access, partake, influence and interact with the creation, distribution and content related to their art form.

This is done by bringing together craftsmen and digital natives, the latter providing artisans with skills to use digital technologies within their creative and business process.

Co-funded by the Creative Europe Programme of the European Union

EUdigiTAC - Digitally crafting new communities of practice is an international project by Studieförbundet Vuxenskolan Västra Götaland, Changemaker AB, University of Tartu Viljandi Culture Academy and Confartigianato-Imprese Udine co-funded by the Creative Europe programme of the European Union.